

Michigan State University invites applications for an open rank tenure-system faculty position in biomedical science, broadly defined. The successful candidate will preferably be affiliated with one or more of the following departments: Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, Chemistry, Computational Math Science and Engineering, Microbiology, Genetics and Immunology, Physiology, or Pharmacology and Toxicology depending on interests, expertise, and accomplishments.

Individuals interested in this position (posting #926126) should submit all the required application materials at <http://careers.msu.edu>. Review of applications will begin on Feb. 16, 2024. Late submissions will be considered if successful applicants are not identified by the stated deadline.