

Associate Professor - Medicinal Chemistry

Job #: 077614

Location Syracuse, NY

Pay Range: $90,000 - $120,000

Hours: Determined by department chair

Job Type: Full-time

Job Description:

The Department of Chemistry at Syracuse University invites applicants for a tenured Associate Professor position in Medicinal Chemistry. Candidates with innovative research programs in drug design and discovery, pharmacology and toxicology, novel biological targets, novel small molecule labeling, and cheminformatics or computational chemistry are encouraged to apply, as are those with experience with preclinical or clinical trials of their novel compounds. The candidate will join a growing cohort of faculty in medicinal chemistry and encourages interdisciplinary research that spans multiple departments and colleges.

Review of applications will start on April 15, 2024, and will continue until the position is filled. Please direct questions to chemistry@syr.edu.

The department is committed to diversity and inclusion in higher education, as well as educational outreach in the surrounding Syracuse city community.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Chemistry, Biochemistry, Chemical Biology, Chemical Engineering or a closely related field.

Job Specific Qualifications:

- Established research portfolio and history of externally funded research.
- Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching at all levels.

Responsibilities:

- Maintain an active, externally funded research program.
- Teach courses in medicinal chemistry or a closely related field at all levels.
- Supervise and mentor undergraduate, graduate students, and postdoctoral researchers.
- Contribute to departmental, college, and university service.

About Syracuse University:

Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings, and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and over 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors, 100 minors, and 200 advanced degree programs offered across the University's 13 schools and colleges; over 15,000 undergraduates and over 6,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit <http://www.syracuse.edu>.

About the Syracuse area:

Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

Open Until Filled: Yes

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/5108211>

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

Syracuse University maintains an inclusive learning environment in which students, faculty, administrators, staff, curriculum, social activities, governance, and all other aspects of campus life reflect a diverse, multi-cultural, and international worldview. The University community recognizes and values the many similarities and differences among individuals and groups. At Syracuse, we are committed to preparing students to understand, live among, appreciate, and work in an inherently diverse country and world made up of people with different ethnic and racial backgrounds, military backgrounds, religious beliefs, socio-economic status, cultural traditions, abilities, sexual orientations and gender identities. To do so, we commit ourselves to promoting a community that celebrates and models the principles of diversity and inclusivity.