

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, SEATTLE
ASSISTANT TEACHING PROFESSOR IN CHEMISTRY

Description

The Department of Chemistry at the University of Washington (UW-Seattle) invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, Assistant Teaching Professor, to start no earlier than Sept 2024. The initial appointment for this position spans three years, with the potential for renewal. This position is eligible for promotion to Associate Teaching Professor and Teaching Professor. Teaching track positions at UW are not tenure-eligible.

Responsibilities of this position include instruction of large introductory-level lecture courses in general chemistry, training and managing of teaching assistants for those courses, and curriculum development. Teaching faculty will also pursue scholarship in the area of chemistry education, which may include but is not limited to pedagogical innovation, development of new curricula or course materials, participation in educational research, and/or outreach. UW teaching faculty are also expected to participate in service at the department and/or university level.

The UW Department of Chemistry is a dynamic and inclusive academic community that prioritizes fostering a diverse and supportive teaching and research atmosphere, with a strong emphasis on collaboration at all levels. The department is committed to the long-term growth and development of its employees. UW Chemistry teaching faculty are leaders in evidence-based instruction and pedagogical innovation. Notable innovations are shared, both within the department and more broadly. As a result, Teaching faculty in our department contribute to the national conversation by presenting their work at prestigious conferences and participating in a national network of chemistry educators. In addition, UW has a robust and collegial network of Teaching faculty members throughout campus who regularly collaborate on cross-disciplinary teaching and learning projects. Our goal is to identify, recruit, and support an educator and scholar who can join our team in educating the next generation of scientists.

The base salary range for this position will be $8,800-10,400 per month, commensurate with experience and qualifications, or as mandated by a U.S. Department of Labor prevailing wage determination.

Qualifications

Applicants must have earned a doctorate, or foreign equivalent, in the chemical sciences or a related field by the date of appointment.
